RFBerlin Masterclasses

Two-day masterclasses based on the Handbook of Labour Economics and related topics.

Learn more about RFBerlin Masterclasses

www.rfberlin.com/events/masterclasses

ROCKWOOL Foundation Berlin – Institute for the Economy and the Future of Work (RFBerlin) is an independent research institute conducting research on major global challenges affecting the economy, society, and the welfare state.

Through our Masterclass Series, we invite distinguished researchers to Berlin for two-day teaching sessions. Participation is free and open to PhD students, postdoctoral researchers, early-career academics, policymakers, and practitioners, subject to application .

Richard Blundell

11–12 March 2027

Consumption, Income, and Earnings Dynamics: the Distributional Dynamics of Inequality

Apply by 14 January 2027 · Notification of decision: 25 January 2027

Simon Jäger

15–16 April 2027

Collective bargaining, unions, and the wage structure: an international perspective

Apply by 18 February 2027 · Notification of decision: 1 March 2027

Gordon Dahl and Katrine Løken

20-21 May 2027

Families, Public Policies and the Labor Market

Apply by 25 March 2027 · Notification of decision: 5 April 2027

Andreas Ferrara

14 June 2027

Large Language Models and Generative AI in Applied Economics

Apply by 19 April 2027 · Notification of decision: 30 April 2027